Denouncing the Termination of DACA

President Trump's decision to terminate the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) has significant -- and disastrous -- implications for California's immigrant community and their access to nutritious, affordable food. CFPA joins our immigrant rights partners in denouncing this decision.

For DACA recipients, DACA increases access to employment opportunities with better pay, worker benefits, and more regular hours. The economic stability DACA provides is instrumental to addressing hunger and food insecurity among immigrant youth.

DACA has important implications for immigrant households and communities at large. Nearly eight in ten DACA recipients report contributing to monthly household expenses; the economic stability and food security of DACA-receiving youth are intertwined with that of their families. Without DACA, our communities become less food-secure, and less healthy -- with significant ripple effects for the entire state of California.

Without DACA, immigrant communities are more vulnerable and more fearful. This points to the ever-urgent need for California to pass SB 54. By limiting police-ICE collaborations and providing safer environments for immigrant children and families in critical places like schools and healthcare facilities, SB 54 will create a safer and healthier California for all. CFPA is committed to working alongside our immigrant rights partners to ensure the health and well-being of all Californians, regardless of immigration status.
